Street light back on after Weekly News story

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A RESIDENT who hit out at a new 'intelligent' street lighting system which plunged his home into pitch darkness in the early hours is celebrating after getting a light switched back on.

Gary Byers, 66, said the first he knew of the new system adopted by Suffolk County Council was when he arrived home from a night out to find no lights on and struggled to see to put his key in the door at his home in Haycocks Road, Haverhill.

Mr Byers was furious that he had not received a letter informing him that lights outside his home, along with many others in Haverhill and across Suffolk, are now switched off from midnight until 5.30am.

Last week the Weekly News featured Mr Byers's story and he received a visit from Richard Webster of the county council street lighting team. He agreed that the steep steps behind Mr Byers's home were dangerous and agreed to get the light switched back on.

Mr Byers said: "I think it is a victory and I am really pleased. The help that the paper has given in getting this done is appreciated as well. Mr Webster was very helpful and went into great detail about the scheme. I was very impressed with him and he agreed that the area with the steps was dangerous.

"By the next night the light was turned back on again, it was as quickly as that. Give credit where it is due, they got it wrong, but they have now put it right. It is only one light, but at least we are now not in complete darkness and we can see the steps without falling over."

Mr Byers lives at the edge of the estate, with open fields behind his home, and feared he and his neighbours would be left vulnerable to burglars.

Suffolk County Council introduced a new system of intelligent street lighting across the county earlier this year, which allows some street lights to be switched off, with others dimmed or left on remotely. An estimated saving of more than £500,000 a year on energy bills was expected to be made by switching off many lights between the hours of midnight and 5.30am.

A spokesman for Suffolk county Council said: "The part night lighting scheme is a fully flexible system. The county council is here to listen to residents and other stakeholders, and where there are cases for street lights to be kept on in certain areas for safety reasons, then we will work to make this possible.

"We have been more than pleased to work with Mr Byers. We are already working with the town council in Haverhill to identify whether there are other estates in the town which have a similar need for review."

For further information or to comment on the scheme, members of the public can visit www.suffolk.gov.uk/streetlighting, visit their local library or Haverhill Town Council.

Man cleared of assault

A MAN has been cleared of allegations that he carried out a violent assault in Haverhill town centre.

Michael Williams, 20, of Well Street, had pleaded not guilty to a charge of assault causing actual bodily harm.

A jury at Ipswich Crown Court on Thursday, November 17, took less than an hour to find him not guilty.

After the verdict was returned Judge Roderick Newton told Williams that he was free to leave.

During the trial it had been alleged that Williams had attacked Bradley Foster in an alleyway beside Barclays Bank in High Street, Haverhill during the early hours of April 17.

The prosecution alleged that Williams had felled Mr Foster with a punch and then had kicked him in the head and stamped on his wrist, causing a fracture, during a disturbance involving several people.

But giving evidence, Williams told the jury that he had only intervened in the disturbance because he wanted to go to the aid of a friend who he said was being attacked.

Williams denied causing any injuries to Mr Foster and said he never at any point stamped on his wrist. Any injuries sustained by Mr Foster had been accidental, he said.

The court heard that Williams had been out for the evening with a group of friends and was walking between the White Hart pub and The Bell pub when the disturbance occurred as one of the group used a cash machine.

We've got room for you at police station!

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

CELLS and accommodation rooms which have stood unused at Haverhill's police station for almost a decade could be brought back into use – as the town's new inspector offers space for other groups.

Inspector Peter Ferrie last served as a PC in Haverhill 10 years ago and actually stayed in one of the single officer's rooms at the police station. Now the 10 rooms are no longer used by police officers, along with a large meeting room, and six cells in the building no longer house prisoners since a new custody suite was opened at Bury St Edmunds.

From January, Insp Ferrie will be responsible for both response and Safer Neighbourhood Team officers in Haverhill, and is moving all his officers closer together on the first floor of the police station.

Materials stored in the redundant part of the building will be moved into the cells, leaving a large part of the building available for other uses. Insp Ferrie hopes that other agencies or voluntary groups might be interested in renting office space in the building, for which a separate pedestrian access and entrance can be provided.

Inspector's invitation to local groups

He said: "It is a lovely big building, but we are not making the best use of it. I want to have all my officers working more closely together and I will be right in the middle of everything. We also want to see closer partnership working with other agencies."

"There could be someone out there desperate for better accommodation in the centre of Haverhill, so why not have them here? There is a lot of empty space just sitting there and I would like to see it used."

"The single officer's quarters I used is still there, but has not been used for years. When I was here before, this was a busy, vibrant station and I would like to see it like that again."

Anyone interested in using part of the building can contact Insp Ferrie on (01284) 774473.

Come and join us: Insp Peter Ferrie at Haverhill police station, where he is offering other community groups or agencies the chance to rent space in the large building.

Man who swapped drugs for drink is given a final chance

AN offender described by his solicitor as having "replaced one addiction with another" was given a last chance by magistrates to seek help and stay out of jail.

Gary Townsend, 30, of Beeche Grove, Haverhill, appeared at Bury St Edmunds Magistrates' Court, where he admitted a charge of failing to comply with a community order requirement of a 12-week prison sentence suspended for 18 months.

This was imposed in April for breaching a restraining order and he was also required to attend a six-month drug rehabilitation referral.

Shelley Reader, for the probation service, said it was the second time that Townsend had been brought back to court for breaching the order, after failing to attend appointments, on one occasion missing five within three days.

He had attended some appointments since breach proceedings had been started against him. She said that he had been assessed as suitable for a six-month alcohol treatment order.

Lyndon Davies, for Townsend, said his client now believed alcohol was more of a problem for him than drugs, having detoxed during a period of imprisonment following the last breach of the order.

Mr Davies said: "His drug use is minimal compared to what it has been in the past. He has replaced one addiction with another and he is now drinking far too much. He has been ill because of his drinking and it is clearly having an impact on his health."

Lorraine Line, chairman of the bench, told Townsend: "We have decided that it is not in the interests of justice to activate this suspended sentence. We feel it is more beneficial to use the rest of the order for an alcohol treatment requirement."

"I have to warn you that if you come back to court with another breach there is no way you will have the order continue. We are giving you one last chance to comply with the order and hopefully stay out of prison."

Town group off to London

A DEPUTATION from Haverhill will travel to London on tomorrow to press the town's case to become one of only two pilot schemes in the country testing the new idea of 'community budgeting'.

Haverhill Town Council submitted a bid just before the deadline of November 18 on behalf of the town and Cllr Anne Gower, chairman of the One Haverhill board, said she was delighted the town had been short-listed.

The idea of the scheme is to cut red tape and get things done, by pooling resources to save money and improve accountability. The One Haverhill group is already meeting many of the criteria required by the scheme such as partnership working and projects.

Cllr Gower said: "I am over the moon that we have been shortlisted. I am just delighted that Haverhill Town Council managed to get a bid in in time and successfully bring us to the second phase. We are going to pitch our best and hopefully we will be selected. If not there is a second tier which offers some support and anything is better than nothing.

"There is a small bursary, but it is more about support and guidance. I am absolutely delighted that we have managed to get this far. Matthew Hancock has written to Eric Pickles supporting our bid and we are very hopeful. We are already ahead of the game compared to much of the country, as we already do a lot of partnership working and projects. That is what the One Haverhill group is all about."

School library transported to The Shire

A PRIMARY school library has been transformed into The Shire from Middle Earth after a professional artist got to work on it.

Pupils at Coupals Primary School in Haverhill have been thrilled over the last two weeks to experience an artist at work in their school.

Paul Grant, husband of Kate, who leads the early years reception class, offered to paint the long-awaited mural in the school's new fiction library.

Paul came to the rescue when, a year after the library's completion, an artist could not be found to paint the focus of the theme, which was from Tolkien's The Hobbit. The scene depicts The Shire from Middle Earth and carefully painted into the scene are the class creatures, squirrels, deer, otter, fox, badger, hedgehogs, frog, owl and rabbit.

Head teacher Charles Hardingham said: "The children are absolutely mesmerised by the scene and the creatures are a wonderful addition.

"We are really are grateful to Paul for his beautiful painting which is right at the heart of our school. We would also like to thank HSS Hire of Braintree for loaning free of charge their self-erecting tower for the duration."

Brush stroke of genius: Paul Grant puts the finishing touches to the Middle Earth mural in the fiction library at Coupals Primary School.

Anger over travellers

A COUNCIL has been criticised for taking 'half-hearted' measures to protect a piece of open space after travellers moved on for the second time in a few months.

Five caravans moved on to the land off Chivers Road in Haverhill more than a week ago. They had gone by yesterday after a multi-agency meeting had been held, but before legal action was taken.

Keith Bye said local residents were concerned that better measures were not introduced after travellers moved on to the same piece of land in August. He said: "They did dig up a bit and put some posts in, but it was all half-hearted and they soon got around it.

"It is right next to a children's playground and last time they were there dogs were running round and local children were afraid to go there.

"I have lived here 11 years and last year was the first time it had happened, but now we can see it happening every year. The children don't go to school. They ride round on bikes and you don't know what they are up to. We pay our rates to St Edmundsbury and after their half-hearted attempt to keep these people out we feel that we are wasting our money."

A St Edmundsbury Borough Council spokesman said: "After this site was occupied by travellers earlier this year, we created a ditch where they had broken through, to discourage anyone else from entering. Unfortunately, if travellers are determined to pitch, whatever measures are put in place they will be breached, and we cannot make fortresses of all our public spaces by barricading them."

Convicted of school attack

Jury finds mum and daughter guilty

A MOTHER and daughter have been convicted of beating up a woman outside a primary school.

Carol Sloan, 57, and her daughter Katie, 29, had denied launching a violent attack but were found guilty on Tuesday by a jury at Ipswich Crown Court.

They were released on bail until they return to court in December to be sentenced.

The pair were found guilty of assault causing actual bodily harm following an incident in Camps Road, Haverhill, on the afternoon of November 17 last year.

The victim was Charlene Mansfield, who had been on her way to collect her son from Place Farm Primary School when she found her way blocked by Carol and Katie Sloan.

Giving evidence, Ms Mansfield said that Carol Sloan punched her, pulled off her hat

BY COURT REPORTER

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

and pulled her earrings out of her ears before clawing at her face with fingernails.

Katie Sloan had then joined in, with the mother and daughter repeatedly kicking the victim as she lay on the ground.

The attack only ended when another mother intervened, said Ms Mansfield. Another woman walked with her to the school office, where she was given medical attention by a paramedic.

Ms Mansfield said she had black eyes, scratching to her face, soft tissue injuries from being kicked in the head as well as whiplash and torn earlobes.

Carol Sloan, of Broadcroft Crescent, Haverhill, had claimed that Ms Mansfield had made offensive remarks about her disabled son Glen, 29, and she had only wanted to speak to her to explain the situation.

Ms Mansfield denied making any remarks. In her evidence, Carol Sloan alleged that Ms Mansfield had aimed a punch at her and in trying to fend her off had accidentally caught a thumb in Ms Mansfield's earring, which came off.

She said: "I had no other physical contact with Charlene. I don't know how she sustained the cuts and bruises that she did."

Katie Sloan, of Castle Walk, Haverhill, claimed that she had been acting in self defence when she first tried to slap Ms Mansfield and then, while her glasses were dislodged, lashed out, striking her on the chin which caused Ms Mansfield to fall to the ground.

Both Carol and Katie Sloan denied kicking Ms Mansfield.

During the trial, the jury heard from social services staff who witnessed the incident from nearby offices and other parents who were waiting to collect children from school.

Spot the fundraisers!

CHILDREN at the Friday sessions at Stepping Stones Under-5s group in Haverhill were "showing their spots to raise lots" for Children in Need.

Prizes were awarded to the most original and best-dressed spotty outfit for both the morning and the afternoon session. MP Matthew Hancock chose the morning session winner, who was Archie Wilkinson, and the afternoon session judged by town councillor Roger Andre was won by Marcus Ross, dressed as Pudsey. Donation buckets were put out for parents to donate their loose change and £25 was raised.

At Haverhill Leisure Centre, staff and gym members taking part in an annual Land's End to John O'Groats gym challenge raised about £260 for Children in Need, with money still coming in.

It will be the third year the centre has run the event, to complete the challenge over the course of five days by cycling part of the 1,720-mile distance and recording every mile on a gym bike. Fitness manager Matt Hickey said: "This was a great challenge for our staff and members, which raised money for a very good cause. Friday, Children in Need day, the staff and members gave a final push by dedicating the whole day to cycling all of the remaining miles that were not completed in the week."

At nearby Frankie and Benny's, manager Les Swannell and his staff took a step back in time by wearing 60s and 70s outfits, as well as holding a raffle, and inviting guests along to taste their Christmas menu, raising £244 for the cause.

Highest honour for Legion man

THE highest award the Royal British Legion can give has been presented to a member of more than 30 years.

Robert Wyatt was presented with a National Certificate of Appreciation by Una Clemison, eastern area representative on the National Board of Trustees, at the AGM of the Kedington and District branch.

Mr Wyatt, of Kings Hill, Kedington, received the award, which is given to any member who has made a conspicuous contribution to the Legion at any level for a period of at least 12 years.

Mr Wyatt, right, joined the branch in 1974 and almost immediately became a member of the management committee. In 1983 he was elected to the position of treasurer, which he still holds today.

Brian Tyrrell, branch chairman, said: "In his early days in the post the branch funds were a trifling amount, but over the years the funds have mounted up until the current position is extremely healthy. Mr Wyatt's astute financial and business skills have played a major part in this growth."

Mr Wyatt has also acted as caretaker and bookings clerk for the Legion Hall in Kedington for many years, as well as helping with the maintenance of the hall and its grounds. He has served on several committees and was also branch standard bearer for many years.

Hi wife Vi is the Poppy Appeal organiser for the branch and Mr Wyatt helps distribute poppies, collect, count and bank the money.

Town warming up to winter extravaganza

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

REAL reindeer and festive fireworks will be among the highlights of Haverhill's winter programme of events.

Haverhill Town Council has announced its winter events for this year, headlined by a fun Christmas weekend with late-night shopping, rides, a firework display, real reindeer and Christmas inflatables.

On Friday, December 9, between 5.30pm-8pm, Haverhill High Street will be open for late-night shopping, with charity stalls and street entertainment. At 8.15pm on the Recreation Ground, the sky will light up with the town's annual free fireworks display.

The stunning display, one of the best in the region, will be set to a special soundtrack and be preceded by a lantern parade, which will leave at the arts centre at 7.45pm.

On Saturday, December 10, there will be real reindeer in the Market Square. You can meet Rudy and Dreamer and write and post a letter to Father Christmas between 10.30am and 1.30pm. Between 10.30am and 4.30pm there will also be a skating rink and Christmas inflatables, including a snow globe.

There are plenty of other Christmas events taking place in the town over the festive season including, new for this year, two art workshops. The first will teach people how to make digital Christmas cards. Sessions for adults are on Friday, December 2 at 10am and 12.30pm. The sessions for children take place on Saturday, December 3 at 10.30am, noon, 2pm and 3.30pm.

Winter wonderland: among the events will be reindeer in the Market Square and an ice rink, below.

The second workshop is lantern-making on Sunday, December 4, at the East Town Park Countryside Centre at 10am and 1.30pm. Participants will create a lantern of their own and help create some outside ones for the parade to the fireworks on Friday, December 9. No unaccompanied-under 8s are allowed at either workshop.

There will also be a seasonal flower arranging display organised by the Haverhill and District Flower Club, craft fairs and bazaars at St Mary's Church and Haverhill Arts Centre and carol services at St Mary's, The Old Independent Church and Haverhill Arts Centre.

For more information, call the arts centre box office on 01440 714140 and ask for the Winter in Haverhill brochure.

Region set for £20m windfall

AN MP has welcomed the launch of a nationwide regeneration scheme which will see more than £20m allocated to the eastern region.

The Growing Places Fund is now available to Local Enterprise Partnerships across the area and is part of a £500m UK plan.

The money will give local businesses and organisations the opportunity to make their own decisions and apply for the funding based on local priorities.

MP Matthew Hancock said the scheme would unlock much-needed local infrastructure.

He added: "This fund will make a real difference on the ground, improving the lives of local residents in West Suffolk and boosting the local economy.

"From building strategic link roads to reducing congestion, the investment will set businesses free and create jobs."

The fund will be available to help boost economic growth by getting the required infrastructure built to enable the creation of new jobs and homes by getting stalled projects moving again.

Councils will support these plans with their technical and financial expertise - leaving local enterprise partnerships free of red tape and better able to focus their attentions on ensuring the funds go to where they will be used most effectively.

All £500m will be allocated from the end of January so work can start immediately.

The types of projects which could attract funding include early development of strategic link roads and access works to unlock major mixed-use developments, enabling the delivery of homes and commercial space.

Nursery boost is welcomed by local MPs

REFORMS which mean more children will be eligible for free nursery places have been welcomed by local MPs.

Under new Government reforms to early education, Suffolk will see an extra 1,600 two-year olds become eligible for free nursery school places. This builds on reforms to early education last year, which extended the entitlement for three and four-year olds.

Welcoming the news, the seven Suffolk MPs, including West Suffolk MP Matthew Hancock, said: "We warmly welcome the news of 1,600 extra free nursery places across Suffolk for those who most need them.

"Early education is critical to every child's development, and good early education sets a child on the path to success later in life, so this is an important new step to bring meaningful support to so many children.

"We look forward to working together to see the reforms in action next year."

The entitlement to free early education has been extended to two-year olds from the poorest families on free school meals.

The other Suffolk MPs are: Peter Aldous, Therese Coffey, Ben Gummer, Daniel Poulter, David Ruffley and Tim Yeo.

Chasing me for a debt I've paid

Sir, no wonder the council needs to make cuts. I have just received two final reminder letters stating I was overpaid housing benefit in 2008 and 2009 and unless it is paid they will pursue legal action.

The funny thing is, this debt was repaid by January 2010 directly from my widowed parent's allowance – all the records of which they cannot find. So now the onus is on me to prove I have paid it all back. Brilliant – as if I don't have enough to do already, I've now got to find all my bank statements, widowed parent's allowance letters etc. Thank goodness I tend to keep all my paperwork – it's just finding it! Not everyone keeps their paperwork and you don't expect to receive reminders almost three years later.

I wonder how many other people have been put in this position. It's disgraceful.

Will I get a refund and an apology for my inconvenience? Probably not.

Your say online

STORY: Research park set for approval, Weekly News, November 17

The compilers of the report do not know what they are talking about in saying that "the A1307 will be able to cope with the additional traffic generated and the additional traffic is unlikely to have a significant impact on the safety of the road". I suspect they approach Haverhill from Bury St Edmunds and not from the A1307, otherwise they would know that residents living in villages off the A1307 risk life and limb now every time they have to join the road. And what about the impact the additional traffic will have on Linton, especially at peak times? It is bad enough at the moment. Please do not let this development go ahead.

Haverhill Owls WI

Haverhill Owls Women's Institute (WI) was first suggested in September 2010 with a meeting held at the Haverhill Sports Centre to assess local interest.

Due to the positive response received, an inaugural meeting took place at the Haverhill Arts Centre in October 2010, where a committee was elected to lead the group. Two WI Advisors from the Suffolk region were sent in to guide and support this new WI. The newly-elected committee quickly set up a bank account and begun to plan a programme of activities.

Over the past year, the Haverhill Owls WI has had speakers invited in to give talks on diverse subject areas including 'Theatre life' and 'Chateaux in France', have had hands-on craft activities such as jewellery-making and creating brooches and gift boxes, and had a very successful 'chocolate quiz', of which members have requested a repeat. The WI has managed to set up a walking group, and have had various trips, including to Calendar Girls and Dawes Hall in Sudbury.

A year on, the Haverhill Owls WI celebrated its first anniversary in grand style by organising its Annual General Meeting on Wednesday November 16. The programme was well attended, and the group would like to say a big thank-you to the Haverhill Arts Centre for providing them with a grant to cover the cost of food and drinks for the night.

There was so much to eat, and the meeting room had been beautifully decorated. It was indeed a night to remember, and has encouraged all the WI members to keep meeting up and planning even more interesting events and activities (including a community barn dance!) in 2012.

As one of the members quoted that night: "I have formed so many new friends since joining this WI last year, and it's just wonderful!"

For more information about the Haverhill Owls WI, call Elaine on 01440 761225, or visit us at one of our meetings (7.30pm, third Wednesday of every month at the studio, Haverhill Arts Centre).

Haverhill and District Local History Group

Haverhill and District Local History Group are enjoying a successful start to their new season of talks and events. We started well with Phyllis Baptiste's talk on 'The History of Dolls' Houses' and, together with Haverhill's Family History Group, invited the Pearly King of Peckham to entertain us with his own idiosyncratic take on Cockney life then and now.

Gurteens has been much in the local news recently, as discussions about pedestrianisation of the High Street and the likely impact on their factory continue, so Dr Patrick Crouch's talk to the history group on 'Industrial Lancashire in Rural Suffolk: Haverhill and the Gurteens' should be of interest to all. Please join us in the arts centre studio at 7.30pm on Wednesday November 30. Admission is free to members, £2 for visitors, and refreshments are available. And please don't miss our current display of photographs on the walls outside the History Room, which celebrate Haverhill's churches, chapels and Sunday Schools – particularly topical as Christmas approaches.

SHOPPERS are being invited to have their say as a retail guru and his team of experts look at how Haverhill town centre can be improved.

A week-long survey is being conducted from today until Friday, December 2 – and as many shoppers as possible are needed to share their wishlist for the town.

Prof Andrew Fearn of Kent Business School, an expert in developing customer loyalty through effective marketing, merchandising and business planning, is helping to create a model for improving Haverhill's shopping scene.

The £40,000 project commissioned by St Edmundsbury Borough Council, called Destination Haverhill, relies on finding out what shoppers want.

Picture: Keith Jones 786257

Professor Fearn said: "We have a head start with valuable findings from research undertaken last year, but this is not a repeat, it breaks new ground. So I hope that as many people as possible complete the questionnaire. The results will be used to establish a regular flow of information for retailers, and also provide masterclasses in retailing skills for independent traders and create a fast track to the high street for new retailers."

The survey is available in shops and public buildings in Haverhill, including Haverhill Leisure Centre, and on line at www.stedmundsbury.gov.uk/destinationhaverhill.

Cllr Anne Gower, St

Edmundsbury Borough Council Cabinet member for Haverhill, said: "We did research last year which showed Haverhill didn't rate highly with the occasional visitor.

"To plan the future of town centre shopping we need your help – so please fill in the survey and let us have the information we need to make a real difference."

Youths steal paperwork

YOUTHS climbed on to a flat roof to get into the back of a shop, then took paperwork from inside and threw it over a wall. Police are appealing for information about the incident which happened on Monday, November 14 between 5.30pm and 8.15pm in High Street, Haverhill. After climbing onto the roof at the rear of the shop, they forced open a window and paperwork was pulled through bars and searched. A group of youths were heard talking in the area and the paperwork was thrown over a wall. Anyone with information should contact Suffolk Police on 101.

Teen: I didn't spit at police

A TEENAGER accused of spitting at a police officer has denied an assault charge. Alexander Wheeler, 18, of March Place, Haverhill, is accused of assaulting PC Rafferty in Haverhill on Saturday, November 5. He was granted unconditional bail when he appeared at Bury St Edmunds Magistrates' Court and his case was adjourned until December 15.

Anne's on a mission to champion older people

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

OLDER people in Suffolk now have a group of councillors to champion their interests.

Cllr Anne Gower, right, from Haverhill has become one of 12 Suffolk county councillors to sign up with national older people's charity Age UK as Pride of Place advocates.

Between them, councillors Anne Gower, Keith Jenkins, Bill Bishop, Eddy Alcock, Jane Chambers, Lisa Chambers, John Goodwin, Kathy Gosling, Colin Law, Colin Noble, Chris Punt and Diane Hind represent thousands of older people across the county.

Age UK's Pride of Place campaign is encouraging councillors to improve neighbourhoods for people in later life. Many older people are prevented from getting out and about in their area due to barriers such as a lack of public transport, uneven pavements, access to public toilets or places to sit down.

Councillors are well placed to help resolve these issues and enable older people to continue playing a fulfilling role in their community.

Cllr Gower said: "I'm delighted that Age UK Suffolk, the national charity's local partner, gave me this opportunity to get involved in the national campaign and I will be working with local older people in Haverhill and surrounding areas and will hopefully be able to bring about some improvements to their neighbourhoods.

"I chair the older people's forum in the town but am concerned about isolation of older residents, public transport issues and housing, and these are all areas I hope to be influencing for the better in the town."

Daphne Savage, chief executive of Age UK Suffolk, said: "It's vital that we invest in our neighbourhoods to ensure older people can go on being active and contribute to our communities for as long as possible – after all we now have more over-60s than under-18s.

"Also, we want communities which enable less active older people to stay involved in local life, rather than becoming isolated."

For more information about the Pride of Place campaign, go to www.ageuk.org.uk/prideofplace.

Firm's boss takes on dual role with sister company

THE managing director of Haverhill based ARDEX UK has been appointed by Building Adhesives Ltd, the parent company of Dunlop Adhesives and BAL, as their new managing director.

Peter Bell, right, who has more than 10 years' experience at the helm of ARDEX UK, will continue to act as its managing director, alongside his new role.

The appointment will take place with immediate effect, with Peter initially being based at the Building Adhesives office in Stoke on Trent, after which he will then balance his time between the two businesses. Also reporting to Peter will be ARDEX Building Products Ireland Ltd.

Mark Eslamlooy, CEO at the ARDEX Group, said: "In the current difficult economic climate we believe that it is important to have just one managing director running both UK companies.

"However, nothing else changes and the two companies will still continue to operate as two completely separate entities."

Santas set out on funds trail

SANTA could be doing your hair or teaching your class next month as a hospice launches its annual pre-Christmas fundraiser.

St Nicholas Hospice Care is launching its annual Santa's Hospice Jingle, to be held on Friday, December 9 and throughout the festive season.

Last year hundreds of people from all over West Suffolk donned the famous red suit and raised more than £5,000. This year, the hospice would like people of all ages and professions to help raise even more.

It is hoped people will wear the costumes to work – as a team of hairdressers did last year – or that pupils and their teachers will be Santas for the day at school or college. Any profession can get involved in the fun festive event.

Ian Norris, hospice community fundraiser, said: "We urge people to get involved, get in the Christmas spirit and support a great local cause. And we hope everyone who takes part has a fantastic festive time.

"If you see one of our Santas out and about on December 9 or over the Christmas period, please dig deep and support them."

Entry costs £5, including the Santa suit to keep and a bucket to store donations. To get your hands on a Santa suit or for more information, contact the fundraising department on (01284) 766133 or email fundraising@stnh.org.uk.

Drink-driver four times legal limit

A FACTORY worker seen driving off a garage forecourt "like a steam train" was more than four times the drink-driving limit.

Haverhill man Mariusz Kmiecik, 31, admitted drink-driving when he appeared before magistrates.

The father-of-two was banned for three years and given a year-long community order, during which he must do 200 hours of unpaid work.

Ros Cappleman, prosecuting, told the court Kmiecik had been stopped by police in Ehringhausen Way, Haverhill, one afternoon last month and gave a reading of 153mg of alcohol in 100ml of breath. The legal limit is 35mg.

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Kmiecik was stopped after another motorist and a member of staff called the police after he visited a garage in Manor Road, Haverhill. Both said he smelt of alcohol and the witness compared his driving to "a steam train".

The court was told Kmiecik, of Burton End, had been out drinking after having an argument with his wife.

Shelley Reader, a probation officer who prepared a report for the court after speaking to Kmiecik through an interpreter, said he was remorseful and accepted responsibility for his actions.

He came to England from Poland six years ago and since then has worked at Dalehead Foods in Linton.

The court heard Kmiecik is the father of 15-month-old twins, one of whom suffers from cerebral palsy.

However, magistrates were told a friend could take him to work and his wife would be able to take their daughter to hospital appointments by public transport.

Dennis Heath, chairman of the bench at Bury St Edmunds Magistrates' Court, said: "This was an extremely high reading and the court must treat it very seriously."

Kmiecik can take a drink-driver rehabilitation course, which would reduce the ban by six months.

New voices needed by choral group

NEW singers are invited to an open evening hosted by Haverhill Choral Society before rehearsals start next January for an exciting performance of Verdi's Requiem.

The society hopes to attract new singers to the choir with the evening to be held on Monday, November 28 at 7.30pm in the drama studio at Samuel Ward Academy.

For next year's production the society will combine with Sudbury Choral Society to produce the large choir needed for the work.

There will also be invited soloists and a full orchestra, with musical directors from both groups sharing the conducting. It will be performed at St Edmundsbury Cathedral in Bury St Edmunds on Saturday, May 5 at 7.30pm.

The society has a busy weekend approaching, singing on three consecutive nights. On Friday, December 9 it will perform at Costa Coffee from 6.30pm during the family shopping night, then give a Christmas concert at the Old Independent church on Saturday, December 10 at 7.30pm, and on Sunday, December 11 in the Rotunda at Ickworth House, Horringer, from 2-4pm.

The Christmas concert will feature harpist Jeffrey Dyball, who trained in Paris and played for several years at the Royal Opera House in Covent Garden. The programme includes work by Benjamin Britten and Vaughan Williams, as well as solo items from the harpist and some Christmas carols with audience participation.

Exciting times ahead for our town's market

WELCOME to the first of a new monthly column about the provisions market in Haverhill. We are very fortunate to boast a thriving local market in our town. Steeped in history, the town is believed to have had a market since Roman times.

While the scenery around the market may have changed considerably over the centuries, it has remained at the heart of the community. In a digital age where convenience is of paramount importance, it is heartening to know that St Edmundsbury Borough Council, which operates the market, believes that it still has a pivotal role to play in Haverhill.

Having recently appointed a development officer for the Haverhill and Bury St Edmunds markets, the council will soon be unveiling ambitious plans to build on the good reputation the market has established with local shoppers and visitors.

Proposed initiatives in Haverhill include the creation of a number of special events throughout the annual calendar, improving the facilities available in the market and recruiting new traders to sell a wider range of quality goods and produce.

The market will also be promoted in local media to help attract new shoppers.

These measures, which follow a study by the National Association of British Market Authorities (NABMA), are at the heart of the borough's strategy to enhance the visitor attraction for both Haverhill and Bury St Edmunds.

The council clearly recognises that the market cannot stand still and that it must adapt if it is to continue to thrive and provide an environment which will benefit the town in these difficult times.

It looks like exciting times are ahead for the shoppers and market traders in Haverhill – watch this space.

Treasure trove for a DIY lover

FIND everything the DIY fan in your life could want for Christmas at a popular local shop.

ER Supplies is currently stocking an enormous range of tools for Christmas including torches, safety boots, socket sets, levels, chisels, drills and screwdrivers.

ADVERTISEMENT FEATURE

Many of these are available for less than £10, meaning you can put a smile on their face for less this winter.

As well as a large range of hand tools and power tools ER Supplies also stocks a variety of screws, nuts, bolts, washers, studding, sealants and building plastics such as fascias, soffits and guttering.

The company was established more than nine years ago, to keep local people supplied with everything they could need to spruce up their homes, and is currently based in Hollands Road.

If you wouldn't know a screw from a nail or a nut from a bolt, fear not, as friendly and helpful staff are happy to give impartial advice to both the trade and public.

If you can't make it out of the office for a visit, you can also order online, at www.ersupplies.co.uk, where you can find a host of special offers on power tools.

As an independent company, it not only stocks a wide range of products but can also source all the major brands quickly and at a competitive price.

Stocking fillers: There is a wide range to choose from for DIY enthusiasts, with many items costing £10 or less.

So give your loved one a treat this winter with the help of ER Supplies.

Open from 8am-5pm, Monday-Friday.

Aladdin will bring panto magic to town

TICKETS are selling fast for this year's pantomime at Haverhill Arts Centre, so book now to avoid festive disappointment!

That's Entertainment's production of Aladdin, which is showing between Friday, December 16 and Monday, December 19, is shaping up to be one of the most popular Christmas shows ever in the town.

Aladdin and his Magic Lamp stars Howie Watkins from BBC's Really Wild Show as the dame, Widow Twankey; Lloyd Notice from the West End production of Lion King as the boo-worthy villain, Abanazar and Anthony Joblin from CBBC's Pixelface as Wiskey-Washey.

There will also be children from the Lisa Mason School of Dance. Lisa, who has several dance classes based in the area, is thrilled that so many of her children will be involved: "It's such a wonderful opportunity for the children to work with the professionals, and quite moving that many of those I have nurtured over several years are able to put what they have learnt into practice with such an experienced production company."

Choreographer Katherine Mansi says: "It's always special using local children, giving them the chance to shine, and part of the great tradition of pantomime. It's how I began my career and my mother, who ended up at the London Palladium and danced all over the world with The London Festival Ballet Company, now called the English National Ballet Company."

"I hope some of the children I work with in panto this year will go on to do the same."

Director Chris Gidney adds: "The children will be an all-exciting, all-dancing contribution to what will be a glittering new production."

Aladdin is showing at the Arts Centre on Friday, December 16 at 7pm; Saturday, December 17 at 3pm and 7pm; Sunday, December 18 at 1pm and 5pm; and Monday, December 19 at 1pm and 5pm.

Tickets are £32 for a family ticket (two adults, two children) or £10.50 for adults and £8 concessions. To book call the box office on (01440) 714140 or visit www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk.

Christmas "All wrapped up"

Top tips for a perfect Yuletide

HAVE yourself a merry little Christmas . . . with these top ideas.

■ Take time out. Buying presents, sending cards, planning menus: the run-up to Christmas can be hectic.

Give yourself the gift of a few hours of 'me time' this year: set aside just one afternoon to take a walk, watch an old movie, enjoy a beauty treatment – be by yourself. It's amazing what a big difference a little break can make.

■ Give an extra gift. Doing your bit for charity is guaranteed to give you a rosy glow, so investigate charities who might be organising an 'extra present' pick-up in your area.

■ Plan ahead. It's boring but true: planning ahead really is key. Invest in a little notebook so you can keep track of what you need to do – and what you've already done. Make a note of important dates too: last posting dates for foreign countries and the last day you can order a turkey are important ones.

■ Play a game. If being cooped up en masse over Christmas leaves your family feeling fractious, never fear: there's nothing to lift the party spirits like a good old-fashioned party game.

A particularly good one is the After Eight game – remove an After Eight mint from its sleeve, balance it on your forehead, and try to get it into your mouth without any hands. It's hilarious, but can get messy . . .

■ Get that festive feeling. If you've got a job to do – wrapping presents or peeling sprouts perhaps – put on some festive music and whistle while you work. Carols are always calming, but a good blast of Bing singing White Christmas is also a failsafe way to warm the cockles of your heart.

■ Don't be a martyr. We all want to have the perfect Christmas, complete with snow on the ground, robins in the garden, and a turkey that's cooked just right. But don't try to micromanage the entire festive season: for one thing, you're setting yourself up for a fall; for another, it's utterly exhausting. Share the load and get the rest of the family to do their bit too.

■ Be creative. Doing something creative is both fun and satisfying. Making your own Christmas wreath can be simple if you buy a blank holly or evergreen wreath and decorate it however you like. Why not wire on bunches of red berries or dried orange slices, or for something more glam, go for mini baubles and a big organza bow.

Rocking around the Christmas tree: Be creative in making your own decorations, an activity for all the family to join in.

Smiles all round after Mia's successful first operation

Born with a cleft lip and palate: Mia with mum Sam today and inset, Mia before the operation.

Main picture: Keith Jones 782703

SAM Norman can't help but smile proudly as she talks about her five-month-old daughter Mia. "She's such a good girl," she beams, "and quite a determined little thing."

Just five weeks ago, Mia, from Newmarket, underwent a four-hour operation at Addenbrooke's to improve her cleft lip and palate, a condition she was born with.

It was at the 20-week scan that Sam, 33, and her husband James, 35, were told their first child had a cleft. "They picked it up on the scan and we didn't really understand what it was," she says. "The most I knew about it was someone I went to school with had it. I thought it was quite a rare thing but I now know around one in 600 babies are born every year in the UK with a cleft lip or palate, or both."

As well as the cleft lip, later scans found that Mia also had a cleft palate. "We were hoping that it would just be the lip," remembers Sam.

"It was really upsetting. Obviously you want your baby to be fine

BY LOUISE MARTIN

Email: editorial@saffronvalleyweeklynews.co.uk

and initially I thought 'what did I do wrong?', but I've been reassured there's nothing I could have done."

A cleft is a gap in the lip or mouth that arises in the early stages of pregnancy, when the face of a baby developing in the womb doesn't join up properly. It can affect just the mouth or palate or, like in Mia's case, both.

Although Sam is grateful they found out about Mia's condition before she was born, she admits it did have a negative effect on the pregnancy.

"I think the doctors have to prepare you for the worst," she says. "The pregnancy was nice, albeit, and I hate using this word, tarnished by all the worry of what was going to happen when she was born. I think you put yourself in a position where you can only expect the worst and then when she was born we were so delighted because it wasn't anything like we thought it was going to be."

The couple were told Mia would need at least three operations to correct her clefts – one to improve her lip and nose, a second on her palate, which she will undergo in January next year, and a third when she is nine or 10 years old.

Because she only has a third of her hard palate and none of her soft palate, the left side of her nose was flat, as there was no palate to support it. So the first of the operations, which was carried out at Addenbrooke's last month, was to improve her nose and lip. "It was the longest four hours of my life but we knew she was in good hands," says Sam.

"She had been having difficulty breathing before the operation and, with the palate missing, the milk tends to come back up as well, so we have special bottles for her. She had to stay in hospital for four days, but it actually wasn't as a horrendous experience as I thought it was going to be."

"There were three of us on the ward with children with cleft lip or palate and they were all done on the same day. It's incredible what they did. They pulled everything together and worked on it layer by layer, so they did the nerve endings, the muscle fibres then the skin layers. Everything was there, it just hadn't formed together. If you look closely at her you can see the scar, it's hairline where they've pulled it altogether and stitched. It's amazing really."

After her time in hospital, the family returned to their home for Mia to recover. "She was confused and clearly in pain as the anaesthetic and morphine came out of her system," explains Sam. "It was a lot for her to go through but I have to look at it that she doesn't understand what's going on."

Mia's second operation, to repair her palate, will take place in January. "That's the one I'm dreading," says Sam. "We have another pre-admission appointment at Addenbrooke's where they will explain the operation in full, but I'm told they use skin grafts from within the mouth."

"Now she's had the first op I do feel a bit more reassured but I don't want her to have to go through it all. The first one was bad enough, but this one sounds even more complex and if it doesn't go quite right in terms of her speech, it might need to be done again."

Although Mia is doing well after her first operation, her mum and dad know that she still has a long way to go. "It fills me with dread," says Sam. "I worry about the operation she'll have when she's a little girl because she's going to understand that something's not right and she will be scared. But then I have to look at it that this is cosmetic, it's not an operation where, thank God, there's a severe effect of her health, it's not a hole in the heart, and that's what I have to keep thinking. But at the end of the day she's my little girl and I don't want her to have to go through it all."

Mia has a 20-year care plan with the cleft team at Addenbrooke's and, when she's 16, if she isn't happy with the shape of her nose or lip, she can have more treatment. "I think that's incredible," says Sam. "Daddy and I both have quite big noses so she's not going to have the Norman nose!"

Sam and James have found support not only from their friends and family but also the team at Addenbrooke's and The Cleft Lip & Palate Association (CLAPA). "CLAPA in particular were amazing because they put us in touch with other people who have experienced the same," explains Sam. "That was really helpful because we didn't have a clue; we didn't know what this was going to entail. Once the medical side was explained you're left with the emotional side and that was where CLAPA came in."

The couple were put in touch with a family who also have a daughter with a cleft lip and palate. "We met them and I asked the mum things on the emotional side and things about the operation that I need to know and that helped no end."

"James really struggled with it when we found out and he felt he couldn't show me that he was upset because he wanted to be strong for me. I think he felt that the mum gets more support over the dad, so he found it really useful to have a chat."

To show their thanks for the charity's support, James, who works as a site manager at the Olympic Park in London, and regularly DJs at house music nights in Cambridge as part of the HouseOlogy group, organised a ball last month at Anglia Ruskin University to raise money for CLAPA.

The couple would also be happy to meet other families who find themselves going through the same thing and are looking for advice. "It helped us so much to talk to the family we were put in touch with, we'd be happy to speak to anyone," says Sam.

It's possible in the future that Mia's cleft could affect her hearing and her teeth. "She could get glue ear so she might need to have a gromit fitted," explains Sam. "She'll have crooked teeth up until the operation when she's nine or 10 because they have to let the baby teeth grow through, and then she can have the operation. They will take bone marrow from her hip to form a gum."

Doctors cannot tell James and Sam why Mia developed cleft lip and palate, and a genetics test has revealed that if the couple have a second baby, there is a 5-25 per cent chance that child would also have a cleft. "It has put us off having more children and I know it shouldn't because it's not life-threatening, but it is a lot to go through. We feel we were quite lucky in that Mia's cleft wasn't as severe as we thought it was going to be, but it could be a lot worse, and to be honest it's just a risk that we don't want to take."

Although Sam admits she has found the first operation difficult, and knows Mia has more treatment to go through, she says she couldn't imagine not giving consent for her daughter to be treated. "There were a couple of times when I looked at her and thought 'she's so beautiful, I don't want her to go through it', but that would be so cruel."

"You've got to think about them as they're getting older and going to school. And on health grounds, without her palate being fixed she would always have problems with her breathing and eating."

Sam and James have lots of photos of Mia taken before the first operation and Sam says that when she is old enough they will explain everything about her first few years. "We're just going to tell her how it is," smiles Sam. "We want her to know that this is a part of her life, how proud we are of her and how brave she was. All little kids have a story, and this will be hers."

Darts players hit bullseye

DARTS players have raised a bumper £800 for their local hospice.

The cash was raised by players in the Haverhill Summer Darts League and was handed over to Ian Norris, community fundraiser for St Nicholas Hospice Care in Bury St Edmunds at the Haverhill Snooker and Bowls Club, Chalkstone Way.

The money was raised throughout the summer by the various teams, including £500 raised at the snooker club in August when they held their open darts tournament.

Ian said: "It is great of the darts league to do this for St Nicholas Hospice Care. I particularly want to thank Andrew Pordage for his continued support and everyone at the Haverhill Snooker and Darts Club for the fantastic day in August.

"Many of the players in the league have had personal contact with the hospice, and this amount reflects their commitment to helping our work".

Karen has lost 20,000 stones!

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

MORE than 20,000 stones of excess flab have been shed thanks to diet and fitness instructor Karen Perkins.

Karen Perkins, the Rosemary Conley Diet and Fitness Clubs franchisee in the Suffolk area, who runs classes in Haverhill, Newmarket and elsewhere, is celebrating her 15-year anniversary with the company.

Rosemary Conley presented Karen with her 15-year award, along with a diamond necklace, at a ceremony held in Milton Keynes recently.

Rosemary said: "Karen is a shining example of how hard work and dedication can make a difference and over the years Karen has developed herself to become a highly successful

Your top six tips for keeping warm and well

- 1 Heat your home well. By setting your heating to the right temperature - 21c during the day and 18c at night, you can keep your home warm and your bills as low as possible
- 2 Get financial support. There are grants, benefits and sources of advice available to make your home more energy efficient, improve your heating or help with bills. It's worthwhile claiming all the benefits you are entitled to.
- 3 Eat well. Food is a vital source of energy, which helps to keep your body warm. Try to make sure that you have hot meals and drinks regularly throughout the day.
- 4 Get a flu jab. You can get a free jab from your GP to protect against seasonal flu if you are over 65, have a long-term health condition or are pregnant.
- 5 Look after yourself. Keeping active is important for your health. But if you do go out in cold weather it is important that you wear extra clothes to make sure that you wrapped up warmly. During very cold and icy weather conditions it is safer for older people, very young children and anyone with health problems to avoid going out.
- 6 Look after your family and neighbours. If you have an older relative or neighbour look out for them during winter to ensure that they are well, warm and able to have hot meals and drinks.

Further information about how to heat your home can be found on the home heat helpline website at www.homeheathelpline.org.uk or call 0800 33 66 99

Mightier than the sword

NOVEMBER is a terrible month for entertaining yourself at home, unless you're a fan of watching jungle-based celebrities swallowing gnus' gonads, or ageing 'stars' attempting ill-advised high kicks in spangly ballroom outfits. Thank heavens, then, for Wordfest – the perfect opportunity to escape from the banality of weekend telly and get your fix of intelligent conversation and lively debate.

Taking place on just one day, Winter Wordfest is the smaller cousin of the longer spring event, yet the speakers are no less illustrious: as always, the line-up includes leading lights of the literary world, from celebrated novelists Ali Smith and Vikram Seth to biographer Claire Tomalin and memoirist Diana Athill. There's the usual array of familiar faces from other fields too: comedians Rory McGrath and David Baddiel will be talking about their latest books; autism expert Simon Baron-Cohen will discuss the notion of 'evil', and former chancellor of the exchequer Alistair Darling will reveal his take on the last government, which promises to be an eyebrow-raising affair. Testament to Wordfest's popularity is that the Ian Hislop event, celebrating 50 years of Private Eye, sold out within half-an-hour of tickets going on sale. Others are selling fast, so check out the day's events to make sure you don't miss out.

■ Cambridge Winter Wordfest takes place on Sunday, November 27

Rory McGrath carved a career with a laddish on-screen persona. But behind the jokes lies a thoughtful and sensitive soul, as Alice Ryan found out when she caught up with him....

■ On Catholicism

"All the good things about Catholicism, from my point of view, are all the good things about being brought up by my parents. Any goodness in my upbringing came from the fact that my parents are very good, tolerant, patient people."

■ On losing his religion at 16

"I thought: 'Hang on. I don't really believe all this.' But you carry on doing it, a) out of habit and b) out of pleasing your parents."

"It's easier to carry on doing it than making a stand and saying: 'I don't believe.'"

■ On applying to Cambridge University

"At the time I thought Cambridge was in London. Actually, I thought everywhere was in London. Anywhere east of Truro, anyway."

■ On his first love, JJ

"She left me in the most extraordinarily dramatic way. I was in love with her and she was in love with me, or so I thought. No, I do know that she loved me."

"She worked in a bookshop. One day I went into the shop and she wasn't there. I asked her boss: 'Where's JJ?' and he said: 'You must know where she is! She's getting married today'. . . It was devastating."

■ On writing for Frankie Howerd

"He was very tall, fat and a predatory homosexual. But he was very good fun – you just had to fight him off. He didn't like intellectuals. On one occasion he said: 'I bet you went to Oxbridge', I said: 'I went to Cambridge' and he replied: 'Oxbridge or Cambridge, I knew it was one of them' . . ."

■ On Three Men in a Boat

"Griff (Rhys Jones) is a very old friend. Luckily Dara (O'Briain) is really easy-going: Griff and I are like an old married couple and Dara's stuck there in the middle of this bickering pair . . ."

■ On being a twitcher

"It's a bit embarrassing to say you're a birdwatcher. Even for the young at heart, admitting that makes you immediately middle-aged."

■ On writing his memoirs

"The thing about writing comedy, which is what I've written mostly in my life, is that it's a very artificial and mechanical process. It's all about timing. Writing a book about your life is far easier, because you're just writing what happened."

■ On They Think It's All Over

"I actually think it went on a bit too long, but I met some very interesting people, as well as some very boring ones – a lot of sportsmen are very boring."

■ On working with Ian Wright

"I got to work with him for two years, which was amazing: as an Arsenal fan, he's a real hero of mine. I think I got on his nerves in the end, constantly saying: 'D'you remember that game when you did this? That was brilliant!'"

■ On being an Arsenal fan

"It's a difficult thing to explain to someone who isn't a supporter, but I really do get very miserable if they play badly."

■ On his annual detox

"My body normally becomes a temple every January; then I changed it to February, because it's a shorter month. This year, I decided to carry on until St Patrick's Day. It's because I've had intimations of mortality, I suppose. I heard a voice from God saying 'OK Rory, enough is enough.'"

LADS' LAD: Rory McGrath will be appearing at the Winstanley Lecture Theatre on Sunday.

Rebirth for Bill

ROCK icon Bill Wyman's latest musical rebirth has seen him team up with the Rhythm Kings and return to his classic rhythm and blues roots. Bassist for the Rolling Stones for more than 30 years, Wyman was first influenced by blues, jazz and soul before weaving them into the Stones' rock 'n' roll fabric. Q Magazine has described his latest ensemble as "immaculate – a dream team of musicians". See him live at the Cambridge Corn Exchange at 7.30pm on Saturday. Tickets cost £28.50 from (01223) 357851 / www.cornex.co.uk.

Blues get update

KENTISH Town siblings Kitty, Daisy and Lewis are known for their old-style mix of R 'n' B blues, whiskey-soaked country and Gospel, given a 21st century edge by Daisy's hard beatboxing. From a young age the trio have been inspiring audiences and building a fanbase, with celebrity fans including Chris Martin, Dustin Hoffman and Ewan McGregor. Catch them on Saturday at The Junction at 8pm (doors at 7pm). Tickets are £10 in advance from (01223) 511511 / www.junction.co.uk.

Imelda to go stellar

THE new-age queen of blues and rockabilly is back as Imelda May embarks on her biggest headline tour to date, taking in Cambridge Corn Exchange tomorrow. Dublin-born Imelda may be an unknown name to some, but to many she is already a superstar.

She is unmistakable both in her music (a fusion of surf guitars, blues and rockabilly that wouldn't be out of place in a David Lynch film) and her style, with a solitary curl and shock of blonde in her jet black hair. In Ireland, her debut album Love Tattoo, which she recorded and released on her own label, has gone triple platinum.

She has shared a stage with Eric Clapton, Chuck Berry, David Gilmour, Sharon Shannon, Jeff Beck, Shane Macgowan, Kirsty McCall, Van Morrison, Lionel Richie, Wanda Jackson, Paul Brady and Meatloaf. And now, with the release of her new album Mayhem she is about to go stellar.

Clash Magazine says: "The problem with an artist like Imelda May is that she's so good, it makes a critical review almost impossible to write; her performance is flawless." ■ Contact (01223) 357851 / www.cornex.co.uk

Tales of love and tragedy

THE internationally-acclaimed Ukrainian National Opera of Kharkiv brings two classic operas to the Corn Exchange stage, starting on Sunday with Verdi's passionate love story, La Traviata.

A tragic tale of love and loss, La Traviata is adapted from the novel by Alexandra Dumas, and based on the true story of a famous young courtesan. Recovering from a long illness, Violetta throws a party which includes her lover, Baron Douphol, and a distant admirer, Alfredo Germont.

When Alfredo declares his love for her, Violetta eventually realises he is the one for her and leaves her life in Paris to live with him in the country.

However, the pair's happiness is threatened when Violetta's past life drives a wedge between them.

First performed in Venice in 1853, La Traviata has become a staple of operatic repertoires and stands just behind The Magic Flute in the Operabase list of most-performed operas worldwide.

On Monday November 28, the company follows up with a full-scale production of Puccini's Madama Butterfly.

Hand-picked soloists, a highly-praised chorus and a full orchestra – together with an exquisite set and original antique Japanese wedding costumes – will combine to bring to life this classic story of the beautiful young girl who falls in love with an American naval lieutenant – with dramatic results.

Highlights include the melodic Humming Chorus, the moving aria One Fine Day and the unforgettable Love Duet.

The production will be sung in Italian with English surtitles.

■ La Traviata, Sunday at 7.30pm, Madama Butterfly, Monday at 7.30pm. Both at Cambridge Corn Exchange. For ticket prices and to book, contact (01223) 357851 / www.cornex.co.uk.

The big film

MY WEEK WITH MARILYN certificate 15, 98m

IN the summer of 1956, Marilyn Monroe came to Pinewood Studios in Buckinghamshire to shoot The Prince and The Showgirl with Sir Laurence Olivier.

It was a fascinating collaboration: the most famous woman in the world opposite the greatest stage actor of a generation. What could possibly go wrong?

The on-set diary and memoir of third assistant director Colin Clark revealed that Monroe consistently turned up late on set, driving Olivier to the brink of madness as the production fell woefully behind schedule.

While the cast including Dame Sybil Thormdike looked on, the director and his leading lady clashed. Clark, just 23 at the time and fresh out of Oxford, became a go-between, winning the trust of the emotionally fragile starlet.

Clark (Eddie Redmayne) hails from privileged stock and thanks to family connections, he secures a position working as assistant to Sir Laurence (Kenneth Branagh).

From the moment Marilyn

CAMBRIDGE VUE

0871 224 0240
www.myvue.com
Monte Carlo (PG): Sat 10am Wed 10am
50/50 (15): Fri 12.10, 2.30, 5.05,

(Michelle Williams) arrives, Olivier is smitten and his wife Vivien Leigh (Julia Ormond) wearily tolerates the obsession. But on set, Olivier's desire turns to frustration as Marilyn fluffs takes and turns up late.

Celebrity photographer Milton H Greene (Dominic Cooper), who is part of Marilyn's entourage with acting coach Paula Strasberg (Zoe Wanamaker), issues a warning: "Accept Marilyn on her terms and you will be okay. Try to change her and she'll drive you crazy."

So Olivier asks Colin to win his leading lady's trust and get her to the set on time.

While Colin falls under Marilyn's spell and extinguishes a burgeoning romance with wardrobe mistress Lucy (Emma Watson), the screen siren argues with her husband, writer Arthur Miller (Dougray Scott).

My Week With Marilyn crafts Clark's recollections of that turbulent period into a bittersweet drama laden with the cream of British acting talent.

Adrian Hodges's script glistens with polished one-liners and provides Michelle Williams with a show-stopping role as a cinematic icon that richly deserves Oscar recognition.

Profit by turning over old leaves

AFTER the spectacular display of reds, oranges and yellows from the autumn leaves thanks to an unusually warm spell, it's time to rake them up for recycling.

You may have seen the end of the visual brilliance of the autumn leaves, but their value doesn't end there.

While many people might question the point of raking leaves at all if they are going to decompose anyway, especially in a woodland garden, don't forget the more fragile specimens which are so often planted underneath the trees, such as herbaceous plants and pint-sized bulbs, which could be smothered by the thick blanket of leaves.

So dust off that rake and put your eco-friendly hat on by making leafmould, a humus-rich soil conditioner which makes a good mulch for beds and borders, although it provides few nutrients. Richer leafmoulds can be made by adding a few grass clippings.

It is ideal used as a mulch to suppress weeds and, while it doesn't have much nutritious value, it will be taken down by worms into the soil which will improve its texture.

by Hannah Stephenson

Fallen leaves can be stored in a wire mesh bin, or packed into black polythene sacks which have been perforated to allow air in.

The bags can be tied up and placed in the corner of the garden, where the leaves will decompose and can be used the following spring. Leaves which are left in open bins may take longer to decompose.

It's best to collect the leaves after it has rained, to ensure good decomposition.

If you haven't got a leaf vacuum which can suck them up and shred them, a quick way of collecting them from the lawn is to use a lawnmower, which will shred leaves and add grass at the same time.

Shredding will speed up the decay of tougher leaves such as horse chestnut, sweet chestnut and sycamore.

Thick evergreen leaves such as holly and cherry laurel need to be shredded and added to the normal compost heap. Pine needles break down extremely slowly – it may take three years before they are fully decomposed and ready to use, but they are good to use on acid-loving plants.

For the best leafmould, use leaves from hornbeam, oak and beech, leaving them for at least a year before using. If you leave them for two years or more, you should be left with a very fine crumbly leafmould that can be used as a potting compost.

Of course, there are many other soil improvers you can use.

Many gardeners make their own compost, while others splash out at garden centres on spent mushroom compost, horse manure and composted green waste.

Adding these bulky organic nutrients will boost your soil and should improve crops and give you better quality plants.

Add blood, fish and bone to new planting holes or dig it into a new border or between plants in an existing one to give the soil a boost of nitrogen and phosphates.

Working in plenty of goodness to your soil now will reap you great harvests in the coming year.

CLEAN-UP: fallen leaves can provide gardeners with great compost.

Tidy tips for winter gardens

- Prepare for winter winds by removing decaying branches on established trees.
- Protect newly planted evergreens with a temporary windbreak.
- Group containers for mutual protection over winter, wrapping up vulnerable pots and plants.
- Keep planting bare-root fruit trees and bushes.
- Ventilate the greenhouse on sunny days.
- Check around globe artichokes for signs of suckers and detach any you find and pot them up to increase stocks.
- Pinch out the growing tips of young fuchsias grown from cuttings taken in late summer.
- Spike lawns with a hollow-tined aerator and brush grit into the holes to improve drainage.
- Cover cold frames with old carpet or horticultural fleece on cold nights.
- Use a net to remove leaves and plant debris from the pond water, soaking the dry roots until
- Sow hardy varieties of peas in well-drained soil.

YOUR GUIDE TO MOVING HOME

1 Moving home can be a complicated business and, in the hectic run to the big day, it is all too easy to forget something vital. The Property News offers their readers this handy checklist that should help avoid major pitfalls. We suggest you tick off the items as you deal with them...

WITH FOUR WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Get estimates from removal companies, checking that comprehensive insurance cover is available against damage or loss. Is there a packing and unpacking service? Confirm the date of your move with the firm you have chosen.
- ☐ Check on your home contents insurance policies to ensure that you are covered for the move, and covered at your new address.
- ☐ Make arrangements for your gas and electricity meters (plus water meters where relevant) to be read and all your appliances to be disconnected on the day of your move.
- ☐ Arrange to take over gas and electricity at your new address, and make sure that all appliances will be properly fitted, plumbed or connected.
- ☐ Notify British Telecom and ask them to make the necessary arrangements for a final account at your present address, and for taking over or installing telephone facilities at your new home.
- ☐ Arrange for change of address cards to be printed.

WITH TWO WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Confirm all arrangements, times etc, for meter readings, disconnections and reconnections, with authorities and with your buyer and seller.
- ☐ Make sure you have a good stock of packing materials, including sturdy boxes and plenty of string and sticky tape.
- ☐ Begin to throw out unwanted items from attics, wardrobes. What you really don't want you may as well dump now, or send to charity. It's a great time for a good sort out!

WITH ONE WEEK TO GO:

- ☐ Send off change of address cards.
- ☐ Arrange and pay for automatic redirection of your mail by the Post Office.
- ☐ Cancel and pay up accounts for routine delivery services such as milk, groceries, fuel and your Cambridge Evening News. Re-organise these deliveries for your new address.
- ☐ Defrost refrigerators in preparation for move and, if you are moving a freezer and its contents, turn it up to maximum for a couple of days before you move.

WITH ONE DAY TO GO:

- ☐ Complete your packing except for those items you are likely to need overnight, and prepare a picnic for moving day.
- ☐ Have a large enough cash 'float' available to deal with unexpected expenses, and make sure you have collected documents and valuables together in a safe place.
- ☐ Cover carpets which are being left behind, so as to minimise damage during furniture removal.
- ☐ Check through previous lists to make sure nothing has been overlooked, then enjoy a worry-free early night!

2 ON MOVING DAY:

- ☐ Strip beds and pack bedding and nightclothes.
- ☐ Pack items for washing/toiletries.
- ☐ Take down curtains.
- ☐ Take up rugs, carpets, floor coverings, as required.
- ☐ Dismantle any light fittings etc., not included in the sale.

New look: The i8 Concept, left, and the i3 Concept are signs of a new era for the German marque

BMW at the double

BMW has developed two special vehicle concepts which it is ready to unveil at the upcoming Tokyo Motor Show.

The first is the BMW i3 Concept. Previously known as the Megacity Vehicle, it is the BMW Group's first series-produced all-electric car.

It focuses squarely on the mobility challenges in urban areas and, as the first premium electric vehicle, reinvents the hallmark BMW attributes for the future.

Driven purely by electric power and purpose-built to meet the demands of sustainable and emission-free mobility, it embodies an intelligent form of urban transportation and commuting.

The BMW i3's innovative LifeDrive architecture renders the BMW i3 Concept light, safe, spacious and dynamic.

Innovative use of materials and intelligent lightweight design, moreover, not only enable the i3 Concept to travel long distances on a single charge and provide superb safety in the event of a collision, they also help give the car its excellent driving dynamics.

The electric motor over the rear axle – which generates output of 125kW/170hp and impressive torque of 250Nm (184 lb-ft) from a standstill – and a small turning circle combine to deliver pleasingly crisp driving characteristics.

The BMW i3 Concept accelerates from 0 to 62mph in less than eight seconds.

The so-called Life module conjures up a feeling of space inside the car more generous than even the latest conversion vehicles can offer.

Select materials lend the open and airy cabin a lounge-like character.

The use of renewable raw materials is another defining characteristic of the interior, offering passengers a further means of “experiencing” the sustainability of the vehicle.

Meanwhile, the BMW i8 Concept and the fascinating approach that underpins it embody the vision of a sustainable contemporary sports car brought to life.

Its innovative plug-in hybrid concept combines the modified electric drive system from the BMW i3

Concept – fitted over its front axle – with a high-performance three-cylinder combustion engine producing 164 kW/220 hp and 300 Nm (221 lb-ft) at the rear.

Working in tandem, they allow the two drive systems to display their respective talents to the full, delivering the performance of a sports car but the fuel consumption of a small car.

Acceleration of 0 to 62mph in under five seconds combined with fuel consumption in the European cycle of 94mpg are figures currently beyond the capability of any vehicle powered by a combustion engine of comparable performance.

Thanks to its large lithium-ion battery, which can be charged from a domestic power supply, the BMW i8 Concept can travel up to 20 miles on electric power alone.

Added to which, the 2+2-seater offers enough space for four people, giving it a high level of everyday practicality.

The 42nd Tokyo Motor Show begins on December 2.

Picanto wins treasured iF award

JUST months after its launch, the sporty Kia Picanto three-door, available exclusively in Europe, has been honoured with the coveted iF product design award 2012.

This award recognises design quality alongside a number of other criteria, including workmanship, innovation and eco-friendliness.

Picanto's commendation is Kia's fourth iF product design award in three years, following prizes for the Venga B-segment MPV, Sportage compact SUV and Optima mid-size saloon.

Additionally, the brand has won the red dot design award four times in recent years.

“Receiving the iF product design award for the new Kia Picanto is a great success for our design team and it is welcome recognition of our brand's design-oriented strategy,” said Kia's chief design officer, Peter Schreyer.

“The second generation Picanto displays a very purposeful, self-assured design, and its sportiness is particularly underscored by the three-door version.”

The Picanto boasts bold and dynamic styling, high-quality interior fittings and a host of class-leading features.

It is specifically aimed at the steadily increasing number of discerning consumers wishing to ‘downsize’ to a smaller car.

Kia Picanto: Award winner

In most markets, Picanto is available with two highly-efficient petrol engines that, in combination with the optional automatic stop-start ISG system, reduces CO2 emissions to as little as 95g/km.

Kia's unique seven-year/100,000 mile warranty comes as standard.

The new Picanto is the first to be offered in three-door form where it is expected to account for 45 per cent of total Picanto sales in the UK.

Since its launch in 1953, the iF product design award has been conferred annually and is among the world's most important prizes for excellence in design.

The award has its origins in the “Die gute Industrieform” (Good Industrial Design) product shows initiated by Hanover Messe and is now one of the world's largest design competitions.

For 2012, a total of 2,923 products were registered in 16 different categories.

The Kia Picanto was honoured in the ‘Transportation Design’ category, which includes cars, ships, trains and aircraft.

Bond-mobile: The DB5

DB5 is our all-time favourite

BRITAIN has named its all-time favourite movie car – and the winner really does have the Midas touch!

The star car that has won the most votes in the Auto Express poll is the 1963 Aston Martin DB5 featured in Goldfinger – the Bond movie that forever linked 007 to the British marque.

The elegant but staggeringly quick 282bhp Aston was driven by Sean Connery and sold for an astonishing £2.6m at auction last year.

Thousands of motorists took part in the Auto Express online poll, which asked readers to choose between 50 big screen classics from Ron Weasley's flying Anglia in Harry Potter to Tom Cruise's wall-climbing Lexus in Minority Report.

In second place was the 1981 DeLorean in Back to the Future, third was the 1968 Mini Cooper S in The Italian Job, and fourth was Steve McQueen's 1968 Mustang GT 390 in Bullitt.

Region's used car prices up 3.8%

CONSUMERS holding on to their motor for longer are driving down the cost of used cars – except in Scotland and the east of England, a new report reveals.

The average price for a second-hand car in July-September 2011 was £8,870 – a 2.4 per cent decline compared with the same period a year ago, according to the Auto Trader company. It is the first time the price has dipped below £9,000 since the company started tracking the market in January 2010.

Almost all regions experienced a decline in price compared with the previous three months, while only Scotland (up 2.8 per cent) and the east of England (up 3.82 per cent) had rises compared with July-September 2010. The major climber year-on-year was the Ford Fiesta.

Auto Trader director Tim Peake said: "A lower overall supply of one to three-year-old vehicles entering the UK car market, combined with consumers holding on to their cars for longer, is increasing the average age of vehicles in the UK and this is being reflected in lower average overall prices."

iAccident: App will help claims process

The UK accident industry is reputedly worth more than £3bn a year and is plagued by unscrupulous operators and even organised crime gangs.

Concerned about the growing "compensation culture" and the knock-on effect of rising insurance premiums for everybody, the Government has recently announced that personal injury referral fees will be banned.

To help genuine motor accident and injury victims, a smartphone app called iAccident® has launched which enables claimants at the scene of an accident to immediately capture the key information they need both to validate their own legitimate claims and guard against fraudsters.

Built by the award-winning mobile marketing specialist, 2ergo, and free for consumers to download and use, the iAccident app has been built to be as user-friendly as possible.

The app incorporates GPS functionality so that accident data is recorded accurately.

Crucially, all images are time and geo-location stamped. Reports are submitted directly to the iAccident database in an encrypted format.

Designed to be useful to any motorist, iAccident® is compatible with systems used by all insurance companies.

Consumers simply submit their reports online directly from their smartphone.

They can then choose between having their report forwarded to their own insurer or solicitor (who may be asked for an administrative charge of £25 plus VAT) or have iAccident deal with it on their behalf.

Jaguar on a roll with first sight of XKR-S Convertible

A key part of Jaguar's success in 2011: Diesel XF has proved hugely popular

THE turnaround at Jaguar continues with the unveiling of the XKR-S Convertible – the most powerful and fastest open-topped GT Jaguar has ever built.

The latest stunner comes as Jaguar Land Rover said that booming demand in China has helped drive a 30 per cent sales hike. The Midlands-based manufacturer, owned by Indian company Tata Motors, said revenues hit £2.9 billion in the three months to September 30.

It benefited from strong demand for the recently launched Range Rover Evoque and a version of the Jaguar XF with a 2.2-litre diesel engine. Pre-tax profits rose 9 per cent to £287 million.

Retail sales in China soared 87 per cent, with Range Rovers and a Jaguar XJ model with a 3.0-litre engine proving popular among the country's burgeoning middle class. Sales in Russia were up 6 per cent.

In the UK, retail sales were up 1 per cent, as a rise in sales at Land Rover offset a fall at Jaguar.

Meanwhile the XKR-S Convertible's supercharged AJ-V8 GENIII petrol engine produces 545bhp (405kW) and 502lb/ft (680Nm) but just 292g/km of CO2. The XKR-S Convertible has a top speed 186mph and a 0-60mph time of 4.2 seconds.

The XKR-S Convertible embodies all the characteristics that have always defined legendary Jaguar GTs – explosive performance, involving handling, relaxed comfort and discreet luxury – while taking Jaguar into a new performance echelon.

The new XKR-S model line-up sits at the pinnacle of the XK range, which now consists of XK, XKR and XKR-S derivatives in coupe and convertible format.

"There is nothing as liberating as life behind the wheel of an open-topped Jaguar and the new XKR-S Convertible takes the Jaguar GT experience to new heights," says Adrian Hallmark, Jaguar Global Brand Director.

The building block for the car's explosive performance is its uprated version of the 5.0-litre supercharged AJ-V8 engine. The 545bhp (405kW) and 502lb/ft (680Nm) of torque represent a power increase of 8 per cent and torque increase of 9 per cent over the Jaguar XKR.

The rear wheels are driven through a six-speed automatic gearbox with Active Differential.

Underpinning this potent performance is a comprehensive package of suspension upgrades which refine the XK's dynamic abilities still further, creating an intimate connection between the car, the driver and the road, enhanced still further in the open-topped GT.

The lightweight aluminium structure of the XK has huge torsional rigidity, allowing the fitment of suspension components such as a redesigned aluminium front steering knuckle and revised rear geometry, stiffer springs and dampers.

Reflecting the car's uprated dynamic abilities are interior and exterior styling changes. Externally the XKR-S Convertible is dramatically differentiated from other XK models with carefully calibrated aerodynamic aids that allow it to perform flawlessly at very high speeds.

This sense of drama is continued inside the car with Jaguar Performance seats that feature increased support for driver and passenger during high-speed cornering.

The seats are finished in carbon leather and feature 16-way adjustment and heating while carbon is also used to trim the cabin and emphasise the car's assertive nature.

Extensive Computational Fluid Dynamics, wind tunnel and track work have resulted in the aerodynamic design changes celebrated in the XKR-S Convertible. These perform an essential function in maintaining stability in an open-topped car capable of speeds as high as 186mph.

These aerodynamic design changes give the front of the car a dramatic and bold appearance.

Time for drivers to prepare for winter with top 10 tips

LAST year's icy conditions and the early forecasts of snow for this winter, mean many motorists are already preparing their vehicles for the months ahead, but it's not just the car that needs to be prepared, drivers themselves can do more to aid safety, say car hire specialist eRentals.co.uk.

The company says that with the treacherous winter conditions of the last two years, many people are getting worried about driving over the coming months.

To help, eRentals.co.uk has put together its top tips for safer winter driving. Top 10 tips include:

- Don't rush
- Clear vision
- Take it steady – stopping distances can be at least 10 times longer in ice and snow
- Check the tyres – a minimum tread depth of at least 3mm is advised for winter driving
- Plan your route

- Put on the brakes – get pads, discs and brake fluid checked
- Check the weather conditions
- Navigation
- Emergency essentials: Blanket, torch, food, water and charge your phone!
- Phone a friend – always, always tell someone at your destination the route you're taking and what time you expect to get there. That way, if you get lost or stuck, someone will be able to arrange help.

eRentals.co.uk provides low cost car rental in more than 12,000 locations around the world.

Public Notices

Essex County Council and Southend-on-Sea Borough Council

Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004

Town and Country Planning (Local Development)
(England)(Amendment) Regulations 2008Waste Development Document Preferred Approach (November 2011)Notice of public participation in the preparation of a development plan document under Regulation 25 of the above regulationsConsultation period 24 November 2011 to 19 January 2012

Essex County Council and Southend-on-Sea Borough Council have produced a Joint Essex and Southend-On-Sea Waste Development Document (WDD) Preferred Approach (November 2011), which sets out the key proposals for the management of waste from now until 2031 and includes details of preferred sites to ensure sufficient waste management facilities for the duration of the plan period. The document covers all waste, including municipal, commercial & industrial and construction & demolition waste.

Feedback from this consultation will inform the subsequent WDD Submission stage consultation, before the Waste Development Document is submitted to the Secretary of State for independent Examination in Public. Consultation at each stage will accord with the above regulations and with both authorities' Statements of Community Involvement. Copies of the current document are available for public inspection from 24 November 2011 on the County Council website at www.essex.gov.uk/WDD, on the Southend website at www.southend.gov.uk/WDD, at County Hall in Chelmsford, at the Civic Centre, Victoria Avenue, Southend, at all Essex and Southend main and branch libraries and at District and Borough Council offices (listed below).

Representations on the WDD Preferred Approach (November 2011) are invited during the eight-week period of public participation from 24 November 2011 to 19 January 2012 and must be received by 17:30 on 19 January 2012. Representations can be submitted in any of the following ways to Essex County Council: online via <http://consult.essexcc.gov.uk>, by email to mineralsandwastepolicy@essex.gov.uk by fax to 01245 437213 or in writing to the Head of Environmental Planning (WDD), Minerals & Waste Planning, Essex County Council Freepost CL 3636, E3 County Hall, Chelmsford CM1 1XZ. Representations directly to Southend-on-Sea should be made online via <http://consult.essexcc.gov.uk>, by email to debeskinner@southend.gov.uk, or in writing to Southend-on-Sea Borough Council, Enterprise, Tourism & the Environment, PO Box 5557, Victoria Avenue, Southend on Sea SS2 6ZF.

Further information can be obtained from our Helpline on 01245 435555 or at the addresses specified above.

Date: 24 November 2011.

Fabrication Technician

Full-time role • £ Competitive salary
Location: Royston (near Cambridge), UK

Dolomite is a dynamic, highly professional and expanding company based in Royston, Hertfordshire, UK. We are a leading provider of microfluidic solutions, with world-class microfabrication & operations capabilities. We provide a bespoke service to our clients; from design and fabrication of microfluidic devices to full instrument or system development and manufacturing.

Our clients work in a range of fields including chemical and biological analysis, microreactor systems, and point-of-care diagnostics. We also have an expanding range of standard products, which are typically used in scientific research.

The role

We are looking for a bright, highly motivated and flexible person to join the fabrication department of the Operations Team. Reporting to the Head of Operations, core activities of this new role will include:

- The precision manufacture of glass & fused quartz microfluidic devices.

Core processes include substrate cleaning, thin film deposition, photolithography, wet glass etching, wafer-to-wafer alignment, fusion bonding, wafer dicing, micro-hole drilling, lapping & grinding, optical polishing

- Documenting fabrication processes.
- Device testing.
- Inventory control.
- Prepare orders for despatch.

The ideal candidate will be familiar with engineering drawings and computer literate. Although not essential, the candidate might have previous experience in the manufacture of gratules/reticles, MEMS, inkjet printheads, precision optical components and the solids processing of glass generally.

Staff benefits include 25 days holiday per year (not including bank holidays), pension scheme, healthcare, death in service insurance, income protection insurance and green car scheme.

Dolomite is an equal opportunities employer, and as part of the Syrris Group holds the Investors in People Bronze Award.

Please note - strictly no recruitment agencies.

If you would like to apply for this position, please email your covering letter and CV to: info@dolomite-microfluidics.com marked for the attention of Lee Jeffries, Head of Operations. Alternatively, you can mail your application to Dolomite's head office.

Your CV

When you send your CV off to a potential employer, remember that you won't be the only one. Hundreds of other people could be applying for the job as well.

So what are you going to do to make you stand out from the crowd? Why should an employer take a chance on you instead of someone else?

Your CV is your first real chance to sell yourself to a potential employer. Most employers will scan through a CV in about 30 seconds so you need to grab their attention from the start - and make them want to invite you for an interview.

There are five main areas to consider when writing your CV:

- Make sure your CV looks the part. Your CV should look clean and tidy - don't scrawl it out on a piece of A4 paper. If you haven't got access to a PC or printer, ask a friend or use your local library. Use a good quality paper and steer clear of fancy borders and front covers.
- Watch out for silly spelling and grammar mistakes. They make you look lazy and show employers that you don't really care. It's not difficult to do a spell check on your PC and if you're really stuck then don't just guess, reach for a dictionary. Get a friend to read through your CV for you - a second opinion is always useful.
- Make sure your CV is well organised. When you list your previous jobs, make sure the dates are correct and try not to leave any gaps. If you took time out to go travelling then say so - employers won't mark you down just because you've tried something new.
- Don't waffle. Remember that employers don't have time to read every word of your CV. Long paragraphs and sentences put people off, so try bullet-points to break up text. Make sure your CV is no longer than two pages long - employers don't want your life history, they just want to see that you've got what it takes to do the job.
- Don't list any failures. Employers have enough trouble finding someone who is right for the job - they don't need help finding reasons not to employ you. If you have to include a mistake from your past, make sure you show the employer that you learnt something from the experience.

Keep it simple

Personal details

Start off with your full name, address, date of birth, home and mobile phone numbers, email address and nationality. If you are offered an interview, the employer will want to get hold of you so give him as many options as possible.

Summary/professional profile

This is the No1 area for selling yourself. Set out your main skills and personal qualities but keep it interesting and tight - one paragraph should do to cover everything.

Education and qualifications

List your qualifications and education history, with the most recent first. You don't need to list the grades for each exam you have passed unless they were exceptional results - simply listing the number and type of exams you've passed is fine. Also, list any relevant professional organisations you belong to and training courses you have been on.

Work experience

Start with your most recent position and work backwards, giving addresses along with start and finish dates. Set out your main responsibilities, duties and most importantly achievements, along with any skills you picked up or improvements you made while you were there. This is a really important section in your CV so make it count - but don't waffle.

If you have not had a full-time job before, detail any part-time jobs you may have held or any placement you have been on.

Other skills

Set out any computer skills you may have and the software you are most familiar with. Can you type, do shorthand or speak a foreign language fluently? If you have a driving licence, let the employer know. If it's clean, tell them.

Interests & hobbies

Briefly list what you get up to in your spare time. Put down any positions you hold in clubs or associations, along with any responsibilities and achievements.

References

Make sure you have at least two people (including one from your previous or current job) who will tell an employer what a thoroughly nice person you are and what a potential asset to the company you would be.

If you want to list them now make sure you include their name, job title, postal & e-mail address and contact phone numbers. Alternatively, just put "Available on request" so the employer knows to follow up references at a later date.

Add a covering letter

The main aim of a covering letter is to encourage an employer to give you a chance. You want them to read your CV, so sell it to them. You should always enclose a covering letter when applying for a job - most employers won't consider you unless you do.

A covering letter should let the employer know why you are interested in the job and why you think you can do it.

The hints and tips below should point you in the right direction:

- Keep it simple. A covering letter should be short and to the point - no more than six paragraphs.
- Mention the job. If you are replying to an advert, mention what the job is and where you saw it. The company may be advertising for other positions and it may not be clear which job you are applying for.
- Sell yourself. Explain why you are the perfect candidate for the job. Show off your strengths and experience. Refer to your CV - if it goes missing then at least an employer will know that you've sent it.
- Check it for mistakes. A silly spelling mistake in a covering letter is likely to cost you your chance of getting an interview. Also, make sure it is addressed to the right person in the right department.

A covering letter can be just as important as a CV in getting you an interview. It's your first point of contact with your potential employer - so make it count.

Haverhill Rovers 3 Grays Athletic 2
Eastern Junior Alliance, under-13
Patrons Cup
BRANHAM Ince headed Rovers into the next round after they had pressed the self-destruct button and squandered a 2-0 lead. They started brightly against a tidy Grays side and their confident football earned the opening goal for Chino Nkem-Paul, although it needed a goal-line clearance from Ethan Woodley to preserve that advantage. Dion Whitrid made it 2-0 10 minutes into the second half, but Grays were allowed back into the game and they swiftly made it 2-2. Things did not look so good for Rovers when they missed a penalty, but as extra time loomed, Ince rose to head in a free kick to seal victory.

Haverhill Rovers 3 Wivenhoe Town 0
Eastern Junior Alliance, under-14
CHIDERA Nkem-Paul grabbed a second-half hat-trick as Haverhill Rovers finally broke the resistance of the stubborn league strugglers. The home side had Wivenhoe on the back foot from the start, and the pace of Will Bailey and Nkem-Paul caused them problems, with the latter getting the ball in the back of the net only to have the effort ruled offside. Sensing they were going to struggle to contain the pacy home side, Wivenhoe defended deeper, effectively reducing the space behind them.

With their keeper also in good form, Rovers were frustrated until Nkem-Paul took the ball on the halfway line and powered through to end the stalemate. Further goals – including a penalty after Bailey was fouled – sealed victory.
Milton 3 West Wrattling 5
Cambridge and District Colts League, under-15A
WEST Wrattling staged a stunning comeback to sink the unbeaten league leaders in an extraordinary second half.

The home side took the lead on nine minutes but Earle Lambert squared matters before half time and Harry Ripp put the Reds ahead on 57 minutes.

Two goals in as many minutes left Wrattling trailing, but man-of-the-match Mark Coulson slammed two outstanding goals and Lambert added his second to lift the visitors into fifth.

It's Ince perfect as Branham seals win

Chatteris 3 Hondon Hawks 3
Cambridge and District Colts League, under-13C
MILO Holmes slammed home a late equaliser to ensure a share of the points for Hawks. Hondon started slowly and went a goal behind after 10 minutes.

However, Matt Robinson and Tyler Bell turned the game around and, although Chatteris struck either side of the break to lead again, skipper Holmes popped up to snatch a deserved draw.

Haverhill Rovers 2 Bottisham 2
Cambridge and District Colts League, under-15D
A BATTLING second-half performance earned Rovers a valuable point from a hard-fought encounter.

Tom Marsh equalised after sloppy defending allowed Bottisham to open the scoring in the first half, but Rovers failed to clear their lines again and gave the visitors the lead at half time. However, a storming team talk gave Rovers heart, and after stoking up the pressure with wave upon wave of attacks, Dean Jennings was brought down in the box and Harry Eden calmly converted the spot kick.

larger ball carriers to good effect. However, a length-of-the-field try by John Adams and another touch down from Charlie Harvey kept the home side in touch at the break and Haverhill went on to record a 25-10 success.

Hayden Lawrence, another from Harvey and an outstanding try from Luke Wheeler, who shrugged off several challengers to touch down his first try of the season, sealed victory.

The second game proved to be a little more straightforward, Haverhill powering to a 35-0 win. Oscar Howard opened the scoring and, after Ronnie Short and Theo Darvill had stood up well to Royston's response, Max Dearman put the visitors to the sword with a hat-trick.

Rohan Varia, Harvey and Lawrence completed the scoring.

>> UNDER-12
A DEPLETED Haverhill side travelled to Saffron Walden for a triangular fixture against strong squads from the host club and Wendens Ambo, and Bury. Borrowing two opposition players for the first game, which they lost 14-0, they battled well with a back line, controlled by Josh Moseley at fly-half, looking full of running and a competent pack, which showed good ball retention.

However, they were beaten by a converted try in each half. Haverhill managed a bright start to the game against Bury, with Charlie Brown and Kit Browne recovering from illness to strengthen the pack. The side more than held their own, but the tiring backline was pierced in quick succession to make things more difficult.

Their points in the 33-7 defeat came from a converted try, Brandon McKay wriggling over after clever link-up play with Oliver Cooper.

>> UNDER-EIGHT
HAVERHILL gave as good as they got in the three-game series against Royston, drawing once and going down to two narrow defeats. Ben McKay started the scoring in the first minute of the opening game as the two sides exploited each other's defensive frailties. Riley Brown added another before the break and a second-half hat-trick from Ben Warren keeping Royston on their toes as they sealed a 35-25 win.

McKay again scored the opening try in the second match but it needed a second-half fightback with tries from Warren, McKay and Luke putting them ahead before Royston grabbed a late try to make it 20-20.

Haverhill put in another determined effort in the final game, tries from Luke and Brown keeping Royston on their toes in a game they won 15-10.

Pilgrim anger as nine hang on

Chatteris 3 West Watting 4
Kershaw League, Premier Division
DANNY Hills struck twice as West Watting held on despite having two players sent off.
Hills went on a mazy run before firing into the bottom corner before Thomas Attwood doubled the visitors' advantage with a curling shot from 30 yards. Watting had a penalty appeal waved away after claims Craig Cutts was brought down by the Lilies' keeper before Hugh Stewart pulled one back for the hosts early in the second half. Hills restored the visitors' two-goal cushion after connecting with Owen Longley's cross after good work by Matthew Slater. Richard Allen reduced the deficit only for Cutts to make it 4-2 midway through the second half by tapping in after the keeper parried Attwood's initial effort. Jake Burton gave Chatteris hope on 70 minutes with a penalty after Allen was pulled down by keeper Sam Saunders, who saw red for his actions. Defender Ian Bluett took over in goal, but Watting had to play the last 10 minutes with nine men after Ricky Baker picked up a second booking. Watting joint manager Brian Pilgrim said: "I'm glad we got the three points, but I'm not happy with some of the decisions."

"We should have had a penalty and their keeper should have been sent off after he clattered Craig Cutts. But the same thing happens with Sam Saunders and he gets sent off, which was fair enough but there's no consistency."

Reserves win is Devon sent

Stanway Rovers 0 Haverhill Rovers 3
Ridgeons Reserves League, South Div
DEVON Guyon struck twice as Haverhill rovers' reserves moved up to fifth in the South Division with a comprehensive win against rugged opponents.
The young side took 10 minutes to get into their stride, but once in full flow they always looked good value for the points. The only surprise was that it took 25 minutes to break the deadlock. However, the goal was worth the wait, Ross Elkins and Blake Kicks worked a short free-kick that baffled Stanway and the hard-working Devon Guyon did the rest. The scorer was pivotal in the build-up to the second goal just before the break when he set up strike partner Ryan Weaver, who finished calmly. Stanway tried to knock Rovers out of their stride but the defence soaked up the pressure, although they had a lucky escape when Jordan Tovey appeared to have scored an own goal only for the referee to call the game back for a previous infringement. However, Devon Guyon put Rovers out of range with a long-range effort.

Red-hot Rovers show six appeal

Hadleigh 1 Haverhill 6

Ridgeons Cup, second round

MARCUS Hunt and Scott Lodge struck twice as Haverhill stormed to an emphatic win at Hadleigh on Tuesday.

The visitors took the lead in the 13th minute when Craig Calver's cross was slid in by Dan Cornwell, but it was four goals in quick succession either side of half time which made certain of victory.

Hunt hit the net after good work from Jack Wilkinson and Greg Strong in first-half stoppage time, and Strong turned scorer two minutes after the break with a diving header from Calver's cross.

A minute later, substitute Lodge turned his marker and sent a lovely curling shot into the bottom corner, and Hunt notched his second from Wilkinson's free kick on 51 minutes.

The hosts pulled one back after 81 minutes, but

Deadly Dan: Dan Cornwell (above) slides in to snatch the winner for Haverhill Rovers as they completed an amazing second-half comeback against Stanway on Saturday.

Lodge had the last word when he rounded the keeper in the 89th minute.

Haverhill Rov 3 Stanway 2

Ridgeons League, Premier Division

DAN Cornwell's second goal two minutes from time crowned a superb second-half performance as Rovers twice came from behind before claiming all three points at the New Croft on Saturday.

The hosts were 1-0 down at the break, but Cornwell tied things up on the hour, only for Stanway to capitalise on some poor home defending to go back in front five minutes later.

But Haverhill dominated from that point and equalised again when Stuart Wardley converted from the spot after Craig Calver had been fouled. The hosts poured forward in search of the winner, but it looked as if it would not be their day when they twice hit the frame of the goal and missed a couple of one-on-ones.

But Cornwell got on the end of a good team move to clinch it near the end.

"It's one of our best results of the season and the best second-half performance," said manager Peter Betts. "We asked the players for a reaction, because we owed the fans after the way we performed against Wisbech on Tuesday (a 5-0 home defeat).

"We've beaten a team from the top six, and we couldn't have asked for a better reaction and hopefully the supporters went home happy."

Rovers travel to Hadleigh in the league on Saturday and then face Mildenhall at the New Croft on Tuesday.
